Amtrak continuing passenger service

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) - Amtrak, the National Railway Passenger Corporation, announced today it is withdrawing its request to discontinue passenger service across Missouri, the office of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton said

Eagleton's spokesman here, Bob Kingsland, said Amtrak stated it would withdraw its request before the Interstate Commerce Commission to drop the New York-to-Kansas City line and the Chicago-to-Florida passenger route.

The announced reasons were "the increasing ridership," combined with the fuel shortage and environmental reasons.

Amtrak originally wanted to drop the National Limited, between New York and Kansas City, this month. Government officials in Missouri asked for public 6. The ICC set hearings for Sept. 10, 11, 12 in St. Louis, Jefferson City and Eagleton, who sponsored an amendment to continue operations of the National Limited, said the announcement by Amtrak would ensure operations for at least another year.

The National Limited has one eastbound and one westbound train daily which makes stops in the following Missouri cities: St. Louis, Kirkwood, Jefferson City, Sedalia, Warrensburg and Kansas City.

Figures compiled by the National Railroad Passenger Corp. for the Department of Transportation show the Missouri route carried 11,325 persons in the five months ending in September, 1971, compared with 27,540 for the five months ending in September, 1972, for an increase of 143 per cent. Figures for the rest of 1972 had not been compiled.

In terms of passenger miles, the Chicago-to-St. Louis train ridership was up 22 per cent in 1972, for May to November, compared with 1971.

The New York-to-Kansas City run was up 78 per cent, while the entire Chicagoto-Florida run was down by 8 per cent.

Rescuers locate trapped submarine

CORK, Ireland (AP) — Rescuers in a midget submarine tracked two colleagues trapped in a similar vessel on the Atlantic sea bed today and attached a light guideline to the stricken craft, the shipowners said.

The company said the line was not suitable for lifting but that a second minisub in the rescue party was on its way down with a heavy 10-inch lifting cable. This will be guided into place by the first

"If all goes well we shall have them on the surface by 8 p.m. -3 p.m. EDT - "a spokesman for the company. Vickers Oceanic, said. The two trapped submariners' air supply was due to run out by 4 a.m. EDT Saturday.

The announcement that a light line had been attached was the brightest piece of news in a race against time that began Wednesday when the stricken craft sank 1.375 feet to the bottom of the ocean. It had been laying transatlantic cable 150 miles south of Ireland when a snapped tow rope sent it to the bottom.

Rescue submarines fought through dark waters in a desperate attempt to find the trapped men in time, finally tracing them by the sound of their voices. They had been ordered by radio to "sing for your lives."

Bursts of song from the mini sub stuck in the mud on the ocean floor helped a sister ship grope toward the trapped men.

Once voice contact was established the job of getting a line to the men. stuck for more than two days with less than 24 hours air supply left, became slightly easier.

HEW plans to release extra school-aid funds

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said today it will release next Tuesday or Wednesday $66.7 million in extra school-aid funds it claims it was not sure Congress really meant to give it.

The planned release was announced in court Thursday, after Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats told HEW he had determined that, even though a series of apparently conflicting bills confused the matter. Congress did intend to have HEW end the funds to about 5,000 school districts affected by large numbers of federal civilian or military employes within their boundaries.

Staats' opinion, requested Aug. 21 by HEW, came about three hours before a coalition of states and school districts went into U.S. District Court here to seek an order releasing $59 million. It was not clear immediately how they derived the lower at a news conference, insisted repeatedly: "This was never an impoundment issue ... It was, and is, a technical issue" growing out of the series of bills.

He said HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger made the decision to delay the funds after department counsel raised questions about whether the money had been legally appropriated and was still available because the funds were part of the budget for the fiscal year that ended almost two months ago.

The release increased the program total from $568.8 million to $635.5 million. Carlucci said.

Carlucci said the administration still intends to phase out the impact-aid program involved in the release during this fiscal year, from which HEW does not yet have regular appropriations.

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Many service station owners in Kansas and Missouri. angered over the prospect of gasoline price ceilings under Phase 4, will close their facilities over the Labor Day weekend in Many members of the Mid America Gasoline Dealers Association, at a meeting Thursday night, indicated they would close Saturday. Sunday and Monday in a voluntary protest.

John S. Costello, a salaried employe of the association which has hundreds of members in the two states, said the protest was in conjunction with similar ones planned by other groups throughout the nation.

"Phase 4 is discriminatory against the service station owner," he said. "The service station would be the only small business under the freeze.

On Thursday Phase 3 conditions were extended a week until Sept. 7 by the Cost of Living Council, which said the time was needed to give retailers a chance to put the new ceilings into effect.

The council predicts that formulas for the new ceilings will actually reduce the price at many stations by one to three cents a gallon.

Costello emphasized that the dealers who close were making independent voluntary

Most of those at the meeting were from the metropolitan Kansas City area. although owners from St. Joseph, Mo., Springfield, Mo., Topeka, Kan., and Wichita, Kan., also attended.

Costello said a national association has a case in the courts trying to halt the price ceiling.

Costello also explained to the dealers other things they would have to do under Phase 4. including the posting of octane ratings and the maximum that could be charged for gasoline.

Joining them in the suit were San Diego. Calif., Fairfax County, Va., and the District

HEW decision triggered by Henningsen's letter

By RON JENNINGS Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare's decision to immediately suspend, and possibly permanently stop, its legal action against Sedalia School District 200 was apparently triggered by a letter Aug. 3 from school Superintendent Dr. Allan Henningsen, The Democrat-Capital

HEW officials informed Henningsen Thursday the legal action was being suspended pending an investigation in October or November to determine if the district is satisfactorally complying with the federal desegregation guidelines. If it is determined that the district's assurances are being upheld, all legal action will be dropped immediately.

In the letter, which Henningsen made available to the news media Thursday, were contained several assurances that were not included in an earlier series of compliance-assurances sent to HEW officials in June by former Superintendent Dr. T.J. Norris.

In his statement to federal authorities, Norris, on the instructions of the Sedalia School Board, assured them that a proportionate number of black students would attend each of the district's eight elementary schools. Also, Norris explained, no elementary classes would be held at Hubbard School, although the school still would be used for special education and vocational education classes.

However, according to a letter Henningsen received Aug. 1. HEW officials deemed Norris' statements as "inadequate" because they did not describe, among other things, what vocational education programs would be offered in the district and which of these courses would be headquartered in Hubbard School.

Henningsen replied with detailed responses to these two questions, stating that courses in vocational home economics. distributive education and building trades would be offered. Also, Henningsen wrote, classes in auto mechanics and health occupations will be offered to district students at State Fair Community College.

In addition, Henningsen continued district students will be transported to area vocational schools in Marshall and Warrensburg to participate in airconditioning. refrigeration. electronics. auto body and welding classes.

The vocational class being headquartered in Hubbard School, Henningsen told the officials, is the building trades class which is not racially identifiable. Also, Henningsen added, 15 professional school employes will have offices in the building.

These include, Henningsen wrote, a school psychologist, a teacher for the orthopedically handicapped, seven learning

Special section on SFCC Sunday

New programs and personnel as well as changes that have taken place during the past year at State Fair Community College will be highlighted by The Democrat-Capital in a special section to be published Sunday.

As the local college enters its sixth year of operation, with classes starting next week, The Democrat-Capital Sunday focuses on its contribution to the community with articles from the vocational-technical, college transfer and community services divisions.

Also a highlight of the section will be improvements made at the school and those still in the planning stages, plus a schedule of available evening courses. disability teachers, a teacher for the hardof-hearing and two teachers for the mentally retarded. Commenting on the decision Thursday.

Henningsen expressed confidence the program would be approved. "We feel we can stand up to the inspection," Henningsen said. "Our programs are fully in compliance with their requirements, I believe.' If the investigators feel that the district's plan and related supplementary services meet federal requirements, the school district would again be eligible for new federal funds, it was indicated.

Henningsen also revealed Thursday that he had been in periodic communication with HEW officials recently, strongly urging them to make a decision one way or the other on the school's compliance

Appeals court next step in tape fight

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) -President Nixon has decided to carry to the next judicial plateau his legal fight against producing the secret Watergate tape

The President ordered his lawyers Thursday to appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals the ruling by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica directing him to turn over the tapes for the judge's private inspection.

After Sirica's ruling Wednesday in Washington, Nixon announced he would refuse to comply.

Then, after conferring with two White House lawyers he summoned to California. he disclosed Thursday that "appropriate papers for obtaining review are being prepared" and will be filed before next Thursday, when a stay granted by Sirica

The wording of Thursday's announcement indicated that White House lawyers plan first to file a notice of intent to appeal Sirica's order, then follow up later with detailed arguments on why the lower court decision should be overturned.

The normal procedure is for the ninejudge Court of Appeals in Washington to assign cases at random to panels composed of three judges. On occasion, however, the full court hears a case.

The appeals court is one rung below the Supreme Court, where the historic legal battle is eventually expected to land. An appeal is likely no matter what the appeals court rules, but since the Supreme Court is in recess until October it could be late fall before the case is finally decided.

Sweet Springs annual Fall Festival upstaged

(DemocrateCapital Service)

SWEET SPRINGS - Rather than take a chance, someone may have decided to take a steer instead, and consequently almost took the "moo" out of the annual Sweet Springs Fall Festival here early Thursday.

Festival officials weren't certain whether the apparent "rustling" was prompted by soaring meat prices or just plain cussedness, but nevertheless a 1,000-pound steer, slated to be a prize in a Saturday night Festival raffle, disappeared from its pen at the Festival grounds about 5 a.m. Thursday

Ray Highly, chairman of the Festival steer committee said. "Cattle rustlers let the steer from its pen.

After the discovery of the stolen steer was made by City Marshall Charles Roscher, a possee of 12 men divided into three groups and combed the town in truck and on foot, according to Highly.

About 8 a.m. the meandering steer was found unattended in a Blackwater River bottomland pasture owned by Bob apparently heading south of Highway 127. about one-half mile outside town. He said the disappearance "may just have been a prank.

But the Festival's steer committee problems were just beginning. It took the posse of 12 nearly seven hours to contain the animal and return it to its pen, where it will be guarded 24 hours a day, according to Don Vogelsmeier, Festival chairman.

"We don't know whether or not it was a prank." Vogelsmeier said. "As far as we're concerned it was rustled because we don't know how it got out. I'm a farmer and when a steer is gone you don't know what to do so we're calling this what we may."

Vogelsmeier continued. Someone will also post 24-hour guard duty on a 2,000-pound Texas longhorn which is being brought here for the Festival, according to Vogelsmeier.

By the way, chances for the Saturday raffle are selling at three for $1, and Festival officials said about $400 in chances had been sold by Thursday. It is hoped that proceeds from the raffle, which funds Festival activities. will approach $1,000 assuming that the steer, would-be rustlers or other interested parties cooperate. According to Roscher, the steer was Springfield, Mo.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) - Enrollment figures at Missouri's public institutions of higher education, including junior colleges, will be examined by the state auditor's office starting next week.

State Auditor John D. Ashcroft said Thursday his investigators will study the way total credit hours are calculated. The credit hours are the basis for state appropriations. The audits were requested by the Missouri House Appropriations Committee. A subcommittee found discrepancies in head counts and figures given by the Universities for budget

The budgets are based on the total number of semester hours, but legislators and the Commission on Higher Education have said continuing education students-those who work in the day and take a class at night, usually off campus—should not be counted for state appropriations.

Beginning next week, Ashcorft's auditing team will visit Central Missouri State University at Warrensburg, then visit the University of Missouri and other state universities. The 16 junior colleges will come last.

The commission on Higher Education is in the process of drafting new guidelines on coneducation, it was tinuing learned

If the audits show that the schools obtained more state money than they should have. they will be asked to return it. the House Appropriations Committee said.

Voluntary desegregation at Oklahoma high school

By DENNIS A. ECKERT

Associated Press Writer TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Booker T. Washington High School will be integrated this year because 518 whites volunteered to attend the virtually all-black

Faced with an ultimatum from the Justice Department, Tulsa school officials opted for a voluntary desegregation plan instead of forced busing. They set out to make Washington the best academic school in the entire Tulsa system. which has some 64,500 pupils enrolled, of which about 9,600 are black. Then they invited white pupils to apply for admission to Washington.

"The uniqueness of this is: Many times before, all-white schools have been integrated with blacks, but I believe this is the first time in the country we've taken a formerly allblack school and desegregated it voluntarily," said H.J. Green, a white principal who transferred to Washington this year. He switched places with Granville Smith, the black principal who headed Washington Last year. 850 blacks and a handful of whites attended Washington.

This year, school officials set a goal of 600 blacks and 600 whites. The response: 712 blacks from Washington and 518 whites from other schools signed up.

'If we didn't have to have parental approval for these students, we would have had our 600 students a long time ago." Green said.

A school board member said some parents offered their children a trip to Europe if they would not attend Washington. Others threatened to take away their teen-agers' cars. Forty of Tulsa's best teachers volunteered to transfer to Washington, bringing the school's total number of teachers to 76 and lowering the pupil-teacher ratio to 16-1.

"I'm going for three reasons: the courses, the schedule and the spectacular teachers," said pupil Peter Newby

'Public schools have been the same since kindergarten," said Todd Miller. "I wanted to try something different. A lot of cities have had problems with busing. I wanted to see it work out right in Tulsa

Donnell Smith, a black pupil leader, had another reason: 'Integration is the chance we've waited for to show what we're really like. Officials added 28 courses to the standard 58. Washington pupils can study Chinese, archeology and several other courses not usually available in Tulsa public schools. In addition, Washington offers more advanced courses in the basic

"A school is only as good as the people who are there." Green told an audience of 300 white parents recently. "Washington will have the best people. If you decide to send your children to any other high school, you've decided on the 'second best' school."

The parents applauded.

Desegregation plans are relatively new in Tulsa. A junior high school integration plan is in its third year. Similar plans for grade schools and high schools are in their second

Some compare country to business operation

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - The task of managing a corporation whose primary goal is to make a good product and sell it at a reasonable profit is infinitely less complicated than running an entire nation of multiple interests and values.

And when that country is the United States, where the great variety of goals often conflict with each other, rather than Japan, where ambitions of government and business are sometimes mutual, the contrast

It is this sense of disorder that today makes businessmen furious and frustrated and provokes them into charges of mismanagement in Washington. "Running the country is no different than running a business," they say. "It's all a matter of management, and management is little more than obtaining optimum results, whether in business or government." Maybe so. But you decide whether the difference is simply one of degree or whether managing a country of diverse interests is an entirely different matter than running a company of unified goals. The proposition is that there is an energy shortage and that the logical solution is to reduce consumption or expand production. But, the critics argue, we are making precisely the opposite moves.

A price ceiling on natural gas has discouraged exploration and increased usage. Coal with sulfur content has been banned, sharply restricting supply. New safety rules have cut output. Strip mining has been restrict-atomic power all restricted. there remains petroleum as a source of energy. But, the critics say, the scenario being acted out assures a shortage here First, automotive consumption of gasoline is grossly in engine efficiency because of antipollution requirements. The public is encouraged to buy more and bigger cars than ever Oil containing sulfur is banned, thus reducing refining capacity. New antipollution objectives makes refineries more expensive. Uncertainty about future requirements discourages investment.

New refinery sites are eliminated because of environmental problems. Supplies of crude oil are made uncertain. The Alaska Slope development is delayed. Development of offshore oil production is retarded by the threat of leaks.

This scenario, says Bruce Henderson, head of the Boston Consulting Group, has actually occurred in the United States.

Sales for bicycles exceed automobiles NEW YORK (AP)—Back in interest, bikemakers produced 1960 the bicycle was hardly considered a serious means of locomotion, even by bikemakers themselves. It was a youngster's toy at best, and a decidedly unglamorous one too. The automobile was king of the road. A bicyclist dared not venture onto the highways. where curb-to-curb cars left him barely a gutter for safety. At home, two cars crowded the bike out of the garage.

In all of 1960 only 3.7 million units were sold, 1.1 million of them imported. There were about 23.5 million bikes "in use." but an opinion exists that half of them were used but once or twice a year. Americans were too busy living the easy life. Affluent and demanding what they considered the good things in life. millions of Americans opted for a life of ease, comfort and automation. Understandably, these same people tended to become more obese and prone to circulatory problems. The so-called good life often was an abbreviated one, an observation only the foolish could ignore. For reasons of health, many Americans decided they would shine up the frame, pump up the tires of the old bike in the basement and use it as an exerciser. The bikemakers got their first encouragement in

Ecology became a major consideration. Everywhere people complained about the paving over of the countryside. Bikes. they observed, didn't need as much pavement as cars. Neither did they contribute to air pollution. Seeking to keep their families together, parents often joined the kids on bike trips. And when they learned the convenience of the bike, they sometimes pedalled on to work.

Sales in 1971 rose to 8.9 million units. An estimated 53.1 million bikes were in use. And bike users, including those who rented, were estimated at close to 80 million, compared with only 35 million in 1960.

Suggests steel companies drop proposed hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. William Proxmire said today that major U.S. steel companies should sacrifice proposed price increases in the national interest to help control inflation.

"Millions of other Americans on fixed incomes have made sacrifices, so is it too much to ask a major industry also to make a moderate sacrifice?" Proxmire, D-Wis.,

The senator is head of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress. He was the leadoff witness at the second day of hearings before the Cost of Living Council into proposed steel price increases that average 4.8 per cent for rolled steel, a product used mainly in the manufacture of automobiles and home appliances.

Another witness, David M. Roderick, finance chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., said steel industry profits are not sufficient for needed new investment.

"Steel profits have been squeezed to the point that the rate of return is wholly inadequate to attract external funds or even to command a priority position for internally generated funds, Roderick said. Proxmire said, "The best way steel can serve themselves and the nation is to keep prices low. The council's decision on the price increases will be "the one single decision which will do most to determine whether Phase 4 will succeed." he said.

"I am convinced that no significent steel price increase is justified at this time, that such an increase would not be in the national interest, and that, indeed, it would not even be in the interest of the steel companies themselves." Proxmire

He said the steel industry is in good health with profits of nine large companies up an average of 62 per cent in the first half of this year.

Roderick agreed that the financial picture for steel has improved this year but said it was largely because of what he described as short-run productivity gains.

He said improved earnings are essential for continued investment to meet increased need for steel, to provide jobs for steelworkers and to insure a healthy steel

Former U.S. Sen. Fred R. Harris told the council Thursday that the proposed increases threaten the Phase 4 anti-in-

"If the steel industry is allowed a price increase, control of inflation is not going to be taken seriously," Harris said.

Increased monthly retirement fund share is topic

The introduction of a resolution calling for an increased contribution of $15 monthly to the policeman's retirement fund, on the part of each city policeman, is expected to occupy the attention of the Sedalia City Council when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The increase in contributions from $5 monthly to $20 was recently approved by the trustees of the police retirement fund. The trustees include representatives of both active and retired policemen, some members of the City Council, City Clerk Ralph Dedrick and Mayor Jerry Jones.

The monthly contribution increase will bring about a $25 increase in the monthly retirement payments from $175 to $200 per month. In addition, policemen also receive social security benefits.

City firemen approved a similar increase in contributions from $5 to $20 last year. However, their resulting monthly retirement checks reflect a greater increase because the city monthly contributes 31/2 per cent of the fireman's salary when he retired.

The city makes this contribution, Mayor Jones explained, because firemen are not covered by social security.

Young Sedalia man stabbed in shoulder

A Sedalia man was arrested by police shortly before midnight Thursday and held for investigation of breaking and entering a

According to Police Chief William Miller, John E. "Jack" Stratton, 28; 115 East Jackson, is being questioned in connection with the recent break-in. Miller declined to identify the residence broken into but said that it was located "in the south-west part of town.'

John Scroggins, 18, 308 West Pettis, received three minor stab sounds in the left shoulder early Friday morning in a distrubance at 457 West Saline.

According to police reports, Scroggins, a 13-year-old girl, and two other individuals were arguing when the girl reportedly tried to fight Scroggins. The girl then allegedly ran into a kitchen, grabbed a knife and told Scroggins that she was going to kill him. Scroggins reported that he backed against a wall and was stabbed in the left shoulder three times by the girl. Scroggins was treated and released at Bothwell Hospital.

County Juvenile officer James Newland declined to comment on whether the girl had been taken into custody.

In another disturbance at 1:30 a.m. Friday, Dave Butterball, 710 East Fifth, was reportedly beaten in his home by an unknown assailant. According to police reports, a friend of Butterball's was jumped by the unknown man in the house. The friend left the house and returned a short time later to find the door open, glass broken out of the door, and Butterball "beaten up." The assailant then reportedly forced Butterball to reveal where a .22 rifle was hidden. The man reportedly took the rifle, hit Butterball with it, and left the house.

A color television and an 8-track tape deck were taken from the home of Frederich Brame, 820 North Missouri. According to police, a friend was watching the house while Brame was out of town... The house was reportedly checked at 6 p.m. Thursday and everything was found to be intact. Another check at 10 p.m. Thursday revealed the items were missing. Entrance to the residence was apparently gained by pulling a screen from a window on the north side of the house and opening the window.

Mickie Howell, Kansas City, reported to police that a number of items, valued at around $175, were taken from her car while she attended the Missouri State Fair. Miss Howell, reported that she went to the Fair on Aug. 24 and, upon returning to her car. found an overnight bag and its contents, a sleeping bag, a camera, and a spare tire missing. The trunk lock had been punched through in order to gain access to the Union says proposed hikes are too small

OTTAWA (AP) - The House of Commons by a vote of 192 to 24 has given preliminary approval to a bill ordering wage increases aimed at ending the nineday-old national railway strike and warding off the threat of strikes by other employes of Canada's 11 railways.

But union leaders said the 56,000 employes now on strike would not go back to work unless the pay raise was bigger.

The opposition Conservatives, who joined Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's Liberals on Thursday night in voting for the government back-to-work bill, were preparing an amendment to include cost-of-living increases in a settlement. But there was no indication that this would ease the opposition of the striking clerks, porters and other "nonoperating" employes of Canada's 11 railroads.

Parliament's lower house was expected to complete action on the bill today or Saturday, with Senate concurrence following speedily. Richard Smith, chief negotiator for the Associated Nonoperating Railway Unions, said the union leaders would urge the strikers to ignore the law if it was adopted unchanged.

This would make the strikers liable to a two-year prison term for disobeying a federal statute. Only the leaders would be

Murdered girl's husband files custody action

Ron Jones, 19, husband of the late Karen Jones, who was murdered in Sedalia earlier this month, has filed a petition in Pettis County Circuit Court to obtain custody of the couple's infant daughter, Corina Marie Jones

The baby is presently staying with Pat Wagner, 617 East 17th, Mrs. Jones' father, and his wife. Alice Wagner, according to Jones, who acted through his mother, Frances L. Lacey, filed a petition in court Thursday that a writ of habeus corpus be issued to the Wagners.

Circuit Court Judge Frank Meyer has scheduled a hearing on the writ for 1:30 p.m. Sept. 6.

The petition states that the child is 'illegally restrained of her liberty' by the Wagners and contends the Wagners "have no legal right to custody.

Because Jones is the only surviving parent and natural father of the child, the petition continues, he "is entitled to custody" of the infant.

Mrs. Jones, 16, was found dead in her east Sedalia apartment Aug. 13. She had been strangled and stabbed several times. Kim Eugene Phillips, 21, a former airman at Whiteman AFB, was arrested Aug. 16 and charged with second-degree murder. At the time of Mrs. Jones' death, the infant was staying with the Wagners.

Trotter is honored for long service

Outgoing Pettis County Assessor Jerry Trotter was honored by his fellow courthouse workers Friday morning for his 20 years of service as assessor.

Trotter, who took over the assessor's office in 1953, was presented a silver ice bucket with the inscription "Jerry Trotter, Pettis County Assessor 1953-1973.

Trotter's last day in his office was Friday. William McCune, who defeated Trotter in last November's general election, is scheduled to be sworn into office at 9 a.m. Saturday at the courthouse.

Unlike other offices, the assessor's job changes terms on Sept. 1.

on the premise that moving students from one school to another in the middle of the school year would have a disruptive influence. The district then told HEW of its plan to have the school system integrated by the beginning of this school year.

In the meantime, HEW reported that some federal funds to the district would be terminated. The school board subsequently made plans to finance summer projects through other funds. However, it was then learned through the State Department of Education that the federal funds were, in fact, still available.

The basic HEW lever against the school district was a federal mandate to withhold all federal funds for new projects the school system might wish to begin.

Pipeline workers not needed

By JOHN MORRISON Associated Press Writer

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) Alaska officials say their own unemployed will be able to fill jobs created by construction of the trans-Alaska oil pipeline. that out-of-staters won't have much of a chance.

An estimated 18,000 jobs will become available when construction on the 789-mile line between North Slope oil fields and the port of Valdez gets under way.

But that work won't start until after the first of the year at the earliest and under state law Alaskan residents will be given hiring preference. An insured unemployment rate of 10.2 per cent among Alaskan workers underscores that need.

Yet, hopeful job-seekers from out-of-state are already flooding the market.

"We used to get one or two inquiries about the pipeline." says Gus Caterinichio, business manager of Laborers and Hod Carriers Local 341. "But now all of a sudden I find these strange faces in the hallway looking for work.

"This is a heckuva time to come up here. We have a large percentage of our membership here who are out of work."

Caterinichio says, he could satisfy pipeline construction labor demands with available Alaskans. He said there are 400-500 men in his own 1,100member union alone who are now without work.

The Alyeska Pipeline Service Co.. the firm that plans to build the $3.5 billion hot oil pipeline. says it's receiving 15 to 20 telephone calls, 10 to 12 walk-ins and 35 to 40 letters a day from outside job-seekers.

Director Lee Dalby of the State Employment Security Division says his agency tells out-of-state job-seekers bluntly that the pipeline is not under con-struction and won't be until permits are issued. That won't happen until congressional conferees settle differences in Senate and House bills authorizing the line.

Inflation prompts discourse on bread

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY - How I do hate to waste anything and particularly now, when things are so expensive. My family has grown up and I find bread is one of the hardest things to preserve. I bake lots of kinds but I follow the same procedure with store-bought bread. I put two to four slices in a sandwich bag and freeze it. When needed, a bag is taken out and the bread dropped into the toaster or just warmed or laid out to thaw while a meal is being prepared. Also, I use my electric knife to cut my homemade bread because I can then slice it hot. I even save the bread crumbs for a casserole I just mix in a bit of butter with them and sprinkle on top. The result is a lovely brown top. I try to save every little crust. When my husband entertains his poker club, I make a large pan of old-fashioned bread pudding. Some of the younger men did not even know what it was but asked for seconds. -MRS. E. B.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY - The pad I use under my tablecloths stuck to my Early American table in two places. The table had been waxed several times and nothing I have tried will budge the spots. Any suggestions will be appreciated. -

DEAR POLLY - My Pet Peeve is with patterns. It is almost impossible to buy a pattern for a blouse or other top without getting and paying for patterns for pants and-or skirts and maybe a vest, too. I probably have a dozen pants patterns that I will never use and all because I could not buy the blouse patterns I wanted separately. — PATRICIA Under Phase 4, most workers are permitted a 5.5 per cent increase, and seven-tenths of one per cent for fringe benefits.

Farm roundup

Optimistic high grain prices will continue

By DON KENDALL AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Federal farm officials are optimistic that high grain prices will spill over into next year so that farmers will be encouraged to plant more.

The Agriculture Department. in announcing a 1974 feed grains program Wednesday. said the new "target price" plan was geared to producing at least 6 per cent more corn. sorghum and barley than this

According to insiders in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the 1974 corn crop could reach a record of 6 billion bushels. crops also would rise.

Safety step taken for bicyclists

The painting of yellow stripes around approximately 200 city storm sewer drainage grates, which began Monday, will be completed sometime next week, City Engineer Robert Cunningham said Thursday.

The painting program was undertaken, Cunningham said, as a result of several requests by citizens who said the previously unidentified grates posed a traffic hazard for riders of narrow-tired bicycles.

Because of the narrow tires. Cunningham said, many bicyclists have had accidents when the tires became stuck in the space between the grate

The State Highway Department this summer completed a similar identification of grates on Broadway and Limit, Cunningham said.

Gasconade County successors named

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) - William Wessel, prosecuting attorney for Gasconade County, has been named the county's probate judge and exofficio magistrate by Gov. Christopher S. Bond.

The appointment, effective Sept. 1, was confirmed by the governor's office Thursday. Wessel replaces Orlando Mundwiller, who resigned.

Wessel will be succeeded as prosecutor by John Berkemeyer, a lawyer. All three men are from Hermann and are Republicans. a governor's

The key to the 1974 crop possibilities was the department's posed Wednesday to be used in announcement of an allotment of 89 million feed grain acres.

That is not a lid in the traditional meaning of allotments. It simply represents the acreage farmers can harvest next year. and the guaranteed target prices for corn, sorghum and barley

If currently high market prices hold up, farmers are expected to produce even more than the goal department officials said was built into the 1974 allotment.

Under the new farm law passed by Congress, next year's target price for corn will be $1.38 per bushel. If next year's cash market prices drop The sorghum and barley below that level, the law says government payments must o the difference to growers, based on their share of the national allotment The allotment, eventually to be divided among feed grain producers, is a statistical base used to distribute possible target price subsidies if those prove to be necessary

But ASCS officials said privately that indications point to continued strong grain prices through most of 1974 and that farmers are likely to produce more than their target base allotment.

The latest estimate for 1973 corn output is 5.66 billion bushels, but total use including exports and domestic needs is expected to exceed that level during the coming year.

The 89 million acres in the feed grain allotment was designed theoretically to produce enough to meet total requirements in 1974-75, a total of 206.8 million tons of the three commodities.

Total use of the three grains in the 1973-74 season is expected to be 198.5 million tons. exceeding the estimated production from this year's harvest by 3.2 million tons.

Shooting death

KINGSVILLE, Mo. (AP) - A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by a coroner's jury Thursday night in the fatal shooting here Wednesday of Joseph Eshenbrenner, 54, of Centerview, Mo.

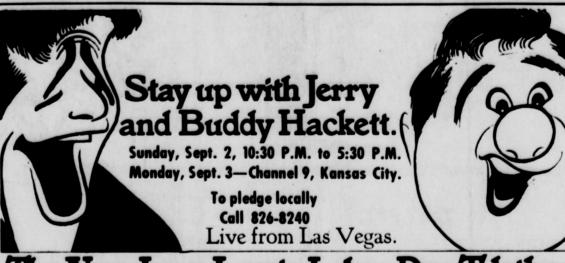

The Johnson County sheriff's office said Eshenbrenner was shot and killed during a family argument at the home of Wayne Perkins, the victim's stepson-in-law.

Same rule of justice for high and low

WASHINGTON - You have a judge on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals with a lifetime appointment. A gung-ho prosecutor from the opposition party gets a grand jury to indict the judge for bribery. fraud, tax evasion and conspiracy.

But hold it, you say!

How can the Nixon

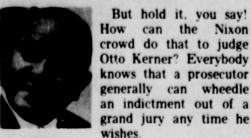

crowd do that to judge

Otto Kerner? Everybody

knows that a prosecutor

generally can wheedle

grand jury any time he Doesn't the Constitution protect Kerner from such "political" assaults when it requires that a "civil officer" be impeached before he is indicted and tried in regular courts?

Otto Kerner never used that defense. presumably believing that no jury would convict him. But the jury did find him guilty of crimes dating back to his years as governor of Illinois, and Kerner was sentenced to three years in prison, a sentence he has appealed.

Case No. 2. You have a vice president of the United States who is accused of taking bribes, kickbacks, extortion money and being involved in related crimes during his tenure as governor of Maryland.

Except this time the prosecutor is not of the opposing party, but the vice president's own party. There are lots of charges in the press, but an indictment is slow to come from the grand jury.

Why? Because in this case the prosecutor isn't sure "civil officer" Spiro Agnew can be indicted and tried in the courts before he is impeached by the Congress.

If we are to believe the leaks coming from sources "close to the prosecution."

there is ample evidence on which to indict and try Agnew. The only hitch is that Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson must give the goahead. He must decide that either Agnew is indictable and triable for crimes allegedly committed or that the Constitution says Agnew is untouchable unless and until Congress impeaches him.

These two cases ought to make one thing obvious to John Q. Citizen. The Nixon administration cannot read the Constitution one way when it is a Democratic judge it is trying to lock up, yet another way when it is a Republican vice president it is trying to keep out of the pokey. The Constitution simply states, "The President, the Vice President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for. and conviction of, treason, bribery or other high crimes or misdemeanors.'

The Constitution does not give a

President or vice president any larger sanctuary than any other civil officer. It does not say that a jury can indict and find guilty a judge while a vice president remains untouchable.

So, if Richardson holds that the Constitution shields Agnew from the grand jury, he will also have to hold that the prosecution of Judge Kerner, which brought such glee to Mr. Nixon's aides, was illegal. It would be a travesty, of course, to hold that the Constitution protects either man from indictment and prosecution for high crimes, especially felonies committed when neither was a "civil officer" of the federal government.

And logic rides with those lawyers who argue that the framers of the Constitution never said or meant to imply the President or any other civil officer must be impeached BEFORE he can be tried in the courts for "treason, bribery or other high crimes or misdemeanors.

If that were the case, a Franklin D. Roosevelt with a massive Democratic majority could commit the rankest thievery, or even "political loyalty" punishment because gave him enough votes to avoid impeachment. There is no such thing as 'equal justice under the law" when a top civil officer of the federal government can take bribes, extort money, evade taxes and then hide safely behind the Constitution while the average bloke gets locked up for crimes with impunity while the mass of people are constantly under the whip of the

"The Boss Says Make It Funny!"

By JACK ANDERSON and

WASHINGTON - When former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman went before the Senate Watergate committee for his three days of grilling, the gentle Biblical advice of his Baptist barber still rang in his

The haughty Haldeman wanted to look his best for the TV cameras. So on Sunday, the day before he testified, he asked his old friend Jack Allen, a barber at the House of Representatives, to shape the famous Haldeman "butch" haircut.

Allen takes pride in his haircuts for the mighty. But his deeper devotion is to his Baptist creed which he mildly but persuasively preaches to his clients.

As the Baptist barber clipped and combed the hair of the Christian Scientist. the two men fell to talking about Senate Watergate chairman Sam Ervin's admonition to Haldeman's friend and former colleague, John Ehrlichman. The Bible-quoting North Carolinian had taken his text for Ehrlichman from Galatians:

"God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Allen's busy scissors paused a monent and he said softly to Haldeman that perhaps a more kindly message from Saint Paul, also in Galatians, might be worth considering as he took the witness chair before the relentless probing.

"But the fruit of the Spirit." quoted the barber, "is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law."

The next day, Haldeman began his three arduous days under the TV lights in the supercharged, hostile atmosphere of the old Senate caucus room.

Whether it was the tactical advice of his shrewd lawyers. or the wise words of his barber friend that did it, Haldeman parried even the toughest examinations by senators with the "Longsuffering, gentleness" and "meekness" urged almost 2,000 years ago on the "foolish Galatians" by the Apostle. The general approval that greeted Haldeman's abandonment of past arrogance is evidence that the barber's Biblical advice was sound.

FOOTNOTE: Allen has a color portrait of Haldeman in his shop inscribed to "A true master of his trade, with appreciation and friendship." Allen told our reporter Bob Owens that his other clients include White House aides Mel Laird and Peter Flanigan: Treasury Secretary George Shultz and former White House aide Alexander Butterfield, who exposed the NUCLEAR HIJACK? Unguarded fuel piles for nuclear power plants soon may be tapped by sneak thieves or raided by armed gangs for the precious radioactive material needed to make bootleg A-bombs.

Legitimate fears of such raids by the Mafia, terrorists or political adventurers bent on blackmail or destruction were detailed earlier in this column from a confidential Ford Foundation report. Besides sounding a warning, the 575-page draft offers recommendations to plug holes in nuclear plant and transportation

"The present U.S. safeguards ... are inadequate," is the blunt warning from the report's author-scientists, Prof. Mason Willrich and Theodore Taylor. A major problem is that pilferage of only small amounts of the material is needed for weapons of unthinkable horror.

Yet incredibly, the federal government has no "specific physical protection requirements for less than two kilograms of plutonium" - far more than is needed for the bombs.

Nor are there adequate rules for protecting the material during "storage (or) transit," even though at $15,000 per kilogram, its value is greater than gold.

WORLD ALMANAC

In 1889. Andrew Carnegie

in his essay the "Gospel of Wealth" professed that rich men should use their wealth for the good of the public. The World Almanac notes.

To aid educational institutions and research foundations, he gave endowments of some $333,000,000, including funds for 2.800 free pub-lic libraries. These trusts were made during Carne-gie's lifetime as he believed that to die wealthy was a disgrace.

Instead of facing up to security problems, say the authors, the "Atomic Energy Commission has simply deferred the problem." The AEC could build a federal nuclear police force "with the sole responsibility of preventing unlawful diversion of nuclear material." In a shootout, ordinary plant guards would be no match for armed and determined criminal bands, the report points out.

President Nixon should appoint a commission to draft nuclear safeguards for plant security before the nuclear plants mushroom, recommended the Ford study.

America, it notes, has "been concerned primarily with the dangers of malfunctioning machines We can no longer ignore the dangers of malfunctioning man . . . What he discovers, he normally uses - and abuses."

Fearing this abuse, many conservationists say that the safeguards will never match the danger. They contend nuclear plants are simply too risky to build, particularly ones which will soon produce deadly plutonium in unprecedented quantities.

Ragtime is coming to city

By DOUG KNEIBERT

Sedalians will have the opportunity to hear one of the leading exponents of the ragtime revival next week, when Max Morath appears at the Fairgrounds Coliseum at 8 p.m. Tuesday

Morath for years has been perhaps the top ragtime artist, and has put together two one-man shows on Broadway that earned rave reviews. He has told the Scott Joplin Festival Committee that he plans to be here next July for the festival, and his dropin appearance here Tuesday will be something in the way of a curtain-raiser, well in advance.

It will whet your appetite for ragtime.

I've found a funny thing to be true. Although many Sedalians can flip off the name of Scott Joplin without batting an eye, and perhaps even whistle a fair version of the "Maple Leaf Rag," they are hardpressed to go on from there.

But there's a lot more to ragtime - and Joplin — than the MLR. Tuesday night's performance will be an excellent way to learn about this unique style of music that began in Sedalia.

Morath is not only a fine ragtime pianist. but a humorist, satirist and musical historian as well. And he will be accompanied by some other notable musicians in their own right. The Hall Brothers New Orleans Jazz Band, under the leadership of pianist Stan Hall, will broaden out from ragtime to play some New Orleans jazz the way it was heard back in its uncorrupted purity. The band regularly makes the Mississippi circuit from its home at the famed Emporium of Jazz in Mendota, Minn. Rounding out the group will be Father Al Lewis, a banjo player of renown who recently emerged from retirement in New Orleans to make a comeback. The "Father," incidentally, has no ecclesiastical significance, but is a New Orleans term of endearment for one who has mastered his trade, musically speaking.

Morath and Co. have put together a special package, custom-made for Sedalia, befitting the Cradle of Classic Ragtime.

The whole outfit usually travels by private railroad car - one of the last in a glorious tradition-aboard the "Jazz Train." In this case, however, they will arrive by bus - the better to be sure they get here. (Amtrak, take note.)

They are due at the Continental Trailways station at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday, and, as is their custom, will emerge with instruments blaring. Mayor Jerry Jones has promised to be on hand to greet them, and it would be nice if other like-minded Sedalians would turn out.

All of the local proceeds left over from the concert will go toward the Scott Joplin Ragtime Festival next summer.

Change of diet

In the gaslight era, people of moderate means ate mostly solid, filling foods meats, poultry, fish, potatoes, bread, and starchy vegetables like dry beans and peas. Fresh fruit was expensive, and hardly anyone ate salads.

Reader's spells affect memory

Dear Dr. Lamb - I am one of your readers, but I didn't think would be writing to you for help. For the past four years I have been having spells off and on with my thinking and talking. I can be sitting around by myself and I'll have spells that are weird, and then they will go away. I can't tell anyone how I feel because they happen so quickly I can't remember myself. I'm having trouble with my memory.

I can be talking to someone and I will have one of these spells come over me, and I can't remember what I'm talking about. I know they think something is wrong with me, but I just can't say the words a lot of times that I want to say. I can't get them out of my mouth. I know that I must act strange. I'm not on any drugs and I am no drinker. Could you help me? Do you think there is anything wrong with me?

I wish you could give me some advice on what kind of a doctor I should go to. Could cigarettes and coffee hurt me in any way? I do smoke a pack of cigarettes a day and drink a great deal of coffee - about two pots a day.

Dear Reader - You didn't tell me how old you are or a number of other facts that are important. I would guess from your letter that you may indeed have some changes that are causing trouble with your memory. Then, there is always the possibility that you have some abnormal function of the nerve pathways in the brain that's related to speech. There are several ways this can

I'm sure you know that an individual who has a stroke that hits one area of the brain can make it impossible for him to speak at all. The speech area is a relatively small spot on the surface of the brain. It is connected to many other inputs, however, that influence speech. Finally, the nervous system has to work properly even to enable the tongue, lips and speech organs to function adequately.

You've asked me what kind of a doctor to see, and about the best advice I can give you is to see if you can be referred to a neurology specialist. These are individuals who are trained specifically in localizing which areas of the brain are not functioning properly, if that should be the case. By testing how you speak, how you move your tongue, what your various reflex responses are, and sometimes more complicated tests, they can have a pretty good idea of whether your nervous system is functioning properly or not.

Much of the nervous system functions just like electrical circuits and part of their job is literally in finding the short in the circuit or the break in the circuit. Then, of course, one has to find out the cause of any change in the circuit, should there be one.

I am inclined to think that cigarettes and coffee are not particularly beneficial to anyone's health, but they are probably not the primary cause of your difficulty. I am pretty sure you could get some help, and would like to encourage you to see a neurologist if at all possible.

Grand Finale 100 Saturday at I-70 track

ODESSA — Thirty late model stock car drivers, including the winner of this season's Fourthannual National Championship feature, have entered Saturday's Grand Finale 100 at I-70 Speedway nere.

Don Gregory, Columbus, Ohio, winner of the rich national event on July 22, has been pegged by I-70 officials as the pre-race favorite.

Two past Grand Finale champions will be in the 30-car field - Larry Phillips, Springfield (1971), and Dave Wall, Kansas City, who won last year's race in easy fashion.

Heat races and trophy dash events are included in the 10event race program, which will be capped off by the 100-lap feature event.

Time trials will begin at 7 p.m.; the first race is scheduled to go under the green at 8 p.m.

best finery on display for the occasion. Saban said he'll start the National Football Conference's leading rusher, O.J. Simpson, who missed the last two games with a cracked rib.

John Ralston, the former Stanford coach who succeeded Saban at Denver, said he plans to start his first team backfield, with Charley Johnson at quarterback and Little and Joe Dawkins at running backs.

In other Friday night games, Miami will be at Minnesota and San Diego will be at Los Ange-On Saturday, Baltimore will be at Houston, Atlanta at Cincinnati, Detroit at Cleveland, Kansas City at Dallas, the New York Jets at New Orleans, San Francisco at Oakland. Pittsburgh at Green Bay, St. Louis at Chicago and the New York Giants will meet Philadelphia at Princeton.

Washington will meet New England on Sunday night.

The Broncos, 1-2 in pre-season play, may unveil their new-est scoring threat, wide receiver Gene Washington, acquired Tuesday from Minnesota.

Talk of "the old days" will also be aroused when John Hadl, now with the Los Angeles Rams, faces his old teammates, the San Diego Chargers. Hadl, a Charger for 11 seasons, will start for the Rams, still seeking their first victory after three defeats and a tie. John Unitas, who rested a sore back last week, is scheduled to start for the Chargers. The Dolphins' record of 23 games without a loss, already blemished by a tie, gets a stern testing from the Vikings, who are just off an impressive 34-10 romp over the Oakland Raiders.

The Dolphins have been slowed this preseason by injuries to top ground gainers Larry Csonka and Mercury Morris.

Chicago Bears appear to be on the move

CHICAGO (AP) - The Chicago Bears, once the terrors of professional football, could find the respectability they have been seeking since they last won a championship a decade

After four seasons of finishing last or next to last in the Central Division of the National Football League, the Bears appear ready to rise.

"We have a chance of being a pretty good football team," said Abe Gibron, who is starting his second season as head coach. "We'll be respectable. With luck we could have a great year. We're in good phys-

There's no question the Bears are in good physical shape. From they day they arrived at their Rensselaer, Ind., training camp, Gibron emphasized the physical contact end of the game. It was hit, hit, hit.

"I was brought up to play physical football," said Gibron. 'A tough training camp is a must. You don't fool anybody in this business. Everybody knows what everybody else has and is going to do.

'So you have to be in shape. you have to execute and you have to have the people,' added Gibron.

Gibron will have people this season, at least a lot more than last year when injuries sidelined such players as running back Joe Moore, the 1971 No. 1 draft choice; lineman Lionel Antoine, the 1972 No. 1 draft choice: defensive end Willie Holman, and defensive back Garry Lyle.

They are all back mended and tested, and the Bears showed vast improvement in their first three preseason games. They tied Green Bay's divisional champions 13-13, defeated Houston 34-7 and then tied Miami's Super Bowl champions 9-9. In addition to the returning injured, Gibron wheeled and dealed like a riverboat gambler during last winter's draft and came up with halfback Carl Garrett and tight end Craig Cotton. Garrett, acquired from New England, immediately took over as the No. 1 running back. With Jim Harrison as a blocking back, the return of Moore and the development of Roger Lawson, the Bears suddenly have an overflow of running Cotton, who played in the shadows of the great Charlie Sanders at Detroit, gives the Bears their first true tight end since the clays of Mike Ditka.

Although Gibron dealt away draft choices to nail Garrett and Cotton, he had enough left to draft defensive lineman Wally Chambers of Eastern Kentucky and quarterback Gary Huff of Florida State.

Chambers figures to muscle his way in as one of the front four and Huff, throwing three touchdown passes against Houston, has moved right behind No. 1 quarterback Bobby Doug-

Douglass' reputation as more of a runner than a passer was magnified last year, when he set a record for NFL quarterbacks by rushing for 968 yards. Gibron, defending Douglass' completion percentage of only 37.9 although the blond giant tossed nine touchdown passes and scored eight running, said "He'll pass more and run less this year.'

To shore up their receiving corps, the Bears recently acquired Tom Reynolds from New England. "I don't know much about him," said Gibron, "but the people who recommended him are high on his

54-hole stroke play competition at WHCC

The stroke play champions in four flights at Walnut Hills Country Club will be determined over Labor Day weekend.

The 54-hole play opens Saturday, and will continue with the second and third rounds Sunday and Monday. Only rounds played Saturday through Monday will count. according to an announcement by club professional Bob McFerren.

McFerren noted that players not listed in Saturday's pairings may play directly behind those listed.

Competition will get underway at noon each day, and will not interfere with normal members' play, according to McFerren.

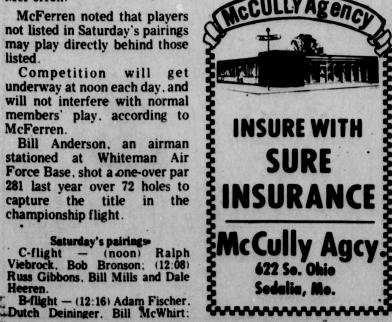

Bill Anderson, an airman stationed at Whiteman Air Force Base, shot a one-over par 281 last year over 72 holes to capture the title in the championship flight.

Illie Nastase near elimination in U.S. Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) - Only four points separate flamboyant and controversial Ilie Nastase of Romania from defeat in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

The defending champion today resumed a match with Rhodesian Andrew Pattison which was halted with Pattison ahead 6-7, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 5-3.

The Nastase-Pattison match is to be resumed at 11 a.m.

Nastase is in danger of being the second seeded men's player to go down to defeat in this tourney where the players are in competition with the saunalike weather as much as with each other.

Roger Taylor of Great Britain, the No. 11 seed, frittered away a two-set lead and was upset by John Alexander of Australia in Thursday's second round.

Taylor, a semifinalist at Wimbledon this year, fought off match point five times before Alexander finally defeated him 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

"I wasn't agressive enough." said Billie Jean King, drained by a heat wave that was heightened by an overnight power blackout at the hotel where she was staying. Such power shortages are common in the metropolitan area during prolonged heat waves such as the one that sent temperatures at the West Side Tennis Club to 98 Thursday.

Mrs. King. the top seed who is seeking her fourth title here, easily ousted Peggy Michel of Pacific Palisades, Calif., 6-2, 6-3 although she was erratic at the outset.

Margaret Court, the secondseeded Australian. eliminated Pat Pretoruis of South Africa 6-1. 6-2. Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Evonne Goolagong of Australia, seeded third and fourth, had equally easy times.

Miss Evert beat Rayni Fox of North Miami Beach, Fla., 6-3. 6-3 and Miss Goolagong overwhelmed Barbara Anne Downs of Alamo, Calif., 6-1, 6-0.

Jeanne Evert, Chris' 15-yearold sister, made her debut at the Open an impressive one. even though it was on one of the cutside courts. She beat Janet Haas of Miami 6-2, 6-2.

In other second-round men's singles matches. Australians Ken Rosewall, Rod Laver and John Newcombe advanced easily, but Cliff Richey, the No. 16 seed from Sarasota, Fla., was extended five sets before overcoming Brian Teacher of San Diego 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

A crafty bit of unblocking

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We are indebted to the Encyclopedia of Bridge for today's hand. South would be better off in three no-trump where he has nine top tricks, but he lands in four hearts.

West opens the queen of clubs. East puts on his ace and returns the jack. West ruffs South's king and leads back a trump to South's jack. South cashes a second high trump and East shows out.

It looks as if South has to lose two club tricks, but that is a mirage. South can bring home the contract by means of a most unusual and interesting. unblocking play

He starts by playing a hird trump. Then he cashes the aces of diamonds and spades. The jack of spades is now led and overtaken by dummy's queen.

The queen of diamonds is led from dummy and after East follows low South discards his good king of spades.

West wins with the king of diamonds and is a dead duck. He has to lead a spade or a diamond. Either one allows South to discard his two losing clubs on the 10 of spades and jack of diamonds. NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN

WASHINGTON (AP) - An unprecedented jump in farm prices from mid-July to mid-August pushed the parity ratio above the 100 per cent mark for the first time in 21 years, the Agriculture Department re-

Cartoon aids drive on cancer

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A slightly scatterbrained-looking cartoon doctor called Prevenildo has greatly increased cancer awareness in Brazil.

"We've had a fourfold increase in the number of people showing up here for examinations after the Prevenildo campaign started," said Moacyr Silva, director of Brazil's National Cancer Institute.

Prevenildo was presented earlier this year on TV and movie screens throughout Brazil, Latin America's biggest country. Wearing a white smock and pacing back and forth, the cartoon doctor pointed out the seven most common warning signs of cancer and urged anyone thinking he might be in danger to get a checkup.

The campaign was sponsored by President Emilio G. Medici's public relations department, the same outfit that produces slick, low-key propaganda in favor of this country's military-run government.

Prevenildo comes from a Portuguese word that means to warn or prevent.

"Many of the people who have come here saw Prevenildo on television and were worried about a lump or sore they'd no-ticed," Silva told a reporter.

TV stations aired the Prevenildo spots as part of their public service programming But they put them on during prime time, when Brazilians normally are glued to soap operas. More than 30 million of Brazil's 100 million people have access to TV sets. Movie theaters ran Prevenildo films before their main features.

Those declines will be reflected in the next report due Sept. 28, the department said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - An Iowa State University professor has been selected by the Agriculture Department to give the sixth annual B. Y. Morrison lecture Oct. 6 in New Orleans.

He is Dr. John P. Mahlstede, professor of horticulture and associate director of the Iowa Agriculture and Home Economics Experiment Station, Ames.

Meanwhile, slight reductions were reported during the period for potatoes, apples and tomatoes, said the report.

The report said the price index received by farmers for all meat animals jumped 24 per cent from mid-July to mid-August and was 68 per cent higher

And agriculture officials offered little encouragement for the future. They said the August report showed that the skyrocketing trend of food prices, interrupted in July when the price index held steady, has again resumed.

The July halt in price increases has been attributed to the administration's lid on retail and wholesale food prices.

Rights of people topic for Labor Day message

WASHINGTON (AP) - AFL-CIO President George Meany said today that Americans obey the law when "they know that those entrusted with its enforcement likewise obey.'

This means the government does not wiretap, does not burgle, does not terrorize lawabiding citizens in their homes on the basis of an informer's u Meany in Labor Day message

The 79-year-old labor leader said the word "necessity" has become synonymous with "national security.

"If one man can determine unchallenged what is 'national security,' and then can justify crimes committed by his authority on that basis, democracy is dead," Meany said.

"The tools of those who would invade an individual's right of privacy are the tools of repression, thought-control and tyranny," Meany asserted.

'Wiretaps, hidden microphones, closed circuit television monitoring people innocently pursuing their daily lives, lie detectors, tape recorders, personnel questionnaires, computer data banks, peepholes, cameras, spy glasses, private detectives-all have been and are being used to intrude upon the privacy of individuals (under the guise) that this is 'necessary.

The issue today is the rights of the people. Are they to be protected; is government to be permitted to decide which laws are going to be obeyed by whom and when; are Americans going to be governed by laws or by whim?" Meany

Commuter experiments are showing progress

By JAY PERKINS Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Experimental express bus lanes and computerized car pools are showing signs of breaking down the one-man, one-car commuting pattern in some urban areas, government reports

The one-man, one-car pattern largely is responsible for the rush hour traffic snarls and air pollution alerts of recent years, the reports say. Such commuting also has placed a substantial drain on the nation's energy resources.

Rather than continue to build bigger roads, the Department of Transportation has been experimenting with ways to reduce the number of cars using existing roads.

Drivers accustomed to bumper-to-bumper traffic, the department reasoned, might leave their car at home if they could be assured of riding a bus that whizzes into town on an exclusive traffic lane.

Or they might be willing to join car pools if all the parking spaces at their company park-ing lots were reseved for car pool members. Several demonstration projects tend to show this is correct, the department says. Bus ridership on Shirley Highway between Washington and its Virginia suburbs has increased 400 per cent since express bus lanes were started in 1969, the Federal Highway Administration says. Bus patronage on the San

geles has increased 30 per cent

since an express bus lane opened last January.

A car pool program for Washington employes of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration resulted in an average of 3.85 persons per car. The national average is 1.2 persons per car during rush hours. NASA car pool members get preferred parking spaces.

Several companies have started programs of their own, the report show.

The 3M Co., for example, has loaned 12-passenger vans to employes for transporting other employes to and from work. In return, they get a free ride and the use of the van during off hours. Passengers pay enough fare to make the commuter service break even.

McDonnell Douglas Corp. promoted employe car pools in St. Louis, Mo., by giving drivers preferred spaces. The result was an average of 2.8 persons in each car. Several government agencies are taking a close look at a project conducted by the Highway administration for 600 em-

Medicine's history is traced

The role of the family practitioner in the midst of everincreasing medical specialization was explained to Sedalia Kiwanians at their meeting Thursday noon at the Bothwell Hotel.

Dr. T. J. Hopkins traced the history of medical science in this country and how standards of training for doctors have become increasingly refined over the years. He said the growth of specialities was a necessity for proper medical care, but also pointed out some of the drawbacks as far as the patient is con-

The former chief of staff of Bothwell Hospital said the theory behind the idea of a family practice "specialist" is that the patient should be treated as a "total entity," on a basis of mutual trust. He said the impersonal nature of specialized medical care is one of the reasons for discontent with the present system.

"We are providing increasingly finer care for increasingly fewer people." Dr. Hopkins said. He points out that 80 per cent of all medical problems can be handled by a non-specialist. "You won't believe it, but we still make house calls," he quipped.

Dr. Hopkins said it is unreasonable to think that more federal legislation and increased spending can solve all of the nation's medical problems.

The speaker credited Dr. Gordon Stauffacher of Sedalia and Dr. Pete Siegel, formerly of Smithton, as being guiding forces in setting up the Missouri Academy of Family Practice.

Dr. Joe Bennett and Dr. D. R. Edwards introduced the speaker.

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) - An unusually high turnout of witnesses has forced U.S. Agriculture Department officials to schedule additional hearings on proposals to increase the price to dairy farmers for their bottled milk.

The three-day hearing concluded Thursday was to have heard a number of proposals. However, most of the time was taken by witnesses testifying in favor of an immediate suspension of federal marketing orders which regulate the minimum price a farmer receives for Class 1 or bottled milk. The suspension, an emergency proposal, would increase the price the farmer receives by at least 11/2 cents a quart, or $1 a hundredweight, said USDA offi-

Satellite developer sees new future uses

NEW YORK (AP) - Ten years after the launching of Syncom, a series of synchronous satellites that revolutionized world communications, Dr. Harold Rosen, its developer, considers satellites the means of bringing the nations of the world closer together. Rosen, manager of the commercial satellite systems division of the Hughes Aircraft Co., predicts that satellites aiding in the exploration of minerals, direct broadcasting, mobile service and terrestrial communications will ameliorate many

Fat chance

QUEBEC (AP) - In times or places where men fear starvation, the fat woman is beautiful, says Dr. Jean Tremolieres, of the dietary research unit at the Bichat Hospital in Paris.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Canadian Pediatric Society here. Tremolieres said a woman's plumpness offers reassurance that the fear of starvation will not come true.

That's a lot of rubber

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - The auto industry will put a billion pounds of rubber parts in its cars in 1973 — not including their tires.

According to the Goodyear Co., the average car now has more than 600 rubber parts, together weighing over 150 pounds. This includes about 30 pounds of seat cushions and crash pads; 15 pounds of engine mounts, body insulators and bumper parts; more than 10 pounds of hose, and at least 95 pounds of rubber stripping. chunks, bits and pieces.

Driver keeps his cool

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) -A bus driver remained cool when some hot high-voltage wires clattered down around

The driver kept the doors shut until the wires touching the bus stopped moving. He then hurried his passengers off the bus. Moments later the vehicle exploded into flames. No one was injured.

Pilot says he plans to fly commercial planes again

By TERRY GANEY Associated Press Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) - The pilot of the Ozark airliner which crashed on an approach to Lambert-St. Louis Airport last month killing 38 persons said Thursday that he intends to fly commercial planes again.

"If it was something that gave me nightmares: if I thought I was at fault, then it would be a different story. But I think it was a combination of things," said Capt. Arvid L. Linke, who climbed out a cockpit window after his Fairchild 227 skidded into a wooded ravine 2.8 miles short of the run-

Linke's statements came on the concluding day of National Transportation Safety Board hearings seeking to determine the cause of the July 23 mishap, which occurred during a driving thunderstorm.

An aerospace engineer, Robert B. Shanks, told the NTSB inquiry that 77 lightning attach points found on the fuselage of the twin-engine turboprop "ap-peared to be freshly made."

"It is reasonable to assume the lightning occurred at the time of the accident." said Shanks, who has investigated more than 1,000 aircraft acci-

A severe thunderstorm warning was issued for St. Louis at 5:40 p.m. DCT, three minutes before the crash, but it was not messaged to the Lambert control tower until 5:48 p.m., according to testimony by H. W. Waldheuser, the lead forecaster of the National Weather Serv-

"If everybody would know something at the same time we did, then the pilot would have known and maybe it could have affected the pilot's decision." Waldheuser said.

Linke, 37, told the board Wednesday that he remembered little about the crash but that as he was on his approach about four miles southeast of the airport he noticed a green "roll cloud" that had a "churning, boiling affect to it."

Meteorogist Allan Pearson testified that turbulence would be "extreme" in a roll cloud. He said an airplane flying through such a cloud would be hit by an extreme updraft followed by a heavy downdraft and that the whole sequence would cover about a mile.

Similar conditions were reported earlier by the pilot who made the last successful land-

The pilot of a plane scheduled to land just before the ill-fated flight testified that he missed his approach because of air turbulence and captain of a plane coming in behind Ozark 809 said he didn't even try to land because of the weather conditions.

An NTSB spokesman said a report on the probable cause of the mishap would be issued in about four months. The threeday hearing covered the testimony of 26 witnesses.

The crash was the first fatal accident in Ozark's history and it came on the heels of an 11week strike by aircraft me-Salem were injured.

Grackles have left Coffeyville

ville apparently is ended.

Residents of the 12th and Elm area are taking a deep breath for the first time in two months after the grackles, star-lings and blackbirds headed for parts unknown.

Residents reported Thursday there were only a few thousand grackles. starlings and blackbirds nesting in the trees. where up to half a million had covered the branches Wednesday night.

It was the big raid-the third attack-by residents armed with Roman candles. shotguns. water hoses, sirens, lashing lights and toilet paper that finally routed the avian squatters. Residents said the area had become fetid with the bird droppings, and all but uninhabitable because of the racket.

Police Chief Jerry Smith said several hundred of the birds were killed in the assault. "but that was just a drop in the bucket.

"I'll tell you it was like the Mardi Gras down here Wednesday night when we finally got them out of here." Smith said.

"Oh sure, there are some left but nothing like we had be-

A nearby feed mill and the availability of water apparently were principal factors that caused the birds to choose the area for nesting.

Transfer of suit is denied

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A federal judge has denied a motion for transfer of a suit seeking death benefits in an insurance policy held by a slain St. Louis County inventor, Victor G. Null.

Judge John F. Nangle, in ruling Thursday on a motion entered by the H.C.S. Turbine Co. of East St. Louis, Ill., denied transfer of the suit to U.S. District Court in that city.

Nangle said the company, which is seeking benefits on a $100,000 policy on Null's life held with New England Mutual Life Insurance Co., had insufficient grounds for transfer.

Null, who held a patent on a revolutionary rotary-type, pollution-free automotive engine. was an employe of the turbine

He was found shot to death at his office last Nov. 9. The company is also suing Lloyd's of London for death benefit payments on a $2 million policy it held with that company.

Law series for students

(Democrat-Capital Service) ST. LOUIS — "Lex Singularis," a nine-program series on law designed for high school students, is in production at KETC-TV for viewing in area high schools this fall.

Lex Singularis" will handle questions such as: How does law develop? How does it work? Why should there be law at all? by presenting a dramatic vignette depicting a certain aspect of law followed by a panel discussion involving an authority from the legal profession and area students, who trade questions and answers on the content of the first portion of the program.

Among the legal authorities featured in panel discussions are Dean Richard Childress, St. Louis University Law School; Honorable Richardson, St. Louis Circuit Court Judge; Dean Patrick Kelly, University of Missouri at Kansas City Law School; Margaret Bush Wilson, St. Louis lawyer; and Gray Dorsey, law professer at Washington University.

Young actors and actresses from the St. Louis area volunteered to fill roles in segments discussing process of law, civil and criminal rights, the court system, and the historical background of the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

"Lex Singularis," one of KETC-TV's many in-school series, is funded in part through a grant from the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council in cooperation with the Missouri Bar Association and the State Department of Education.

Martial arts

When was the movie "Red Sun" released and who starred? Andy Richardson, Wasilla,

This 1972 blend of samurai swords and western gunplay between a Japanese guard and Toshiro Mifune, Charles Bronson, Ursula Andress, Capucine and Alain Delon.

British actor

When and where was Peter Cushing born? - Mrs. Bill Chapman, Griffithville, Ark.

The star of countless horror films was born in Surrey, England, in 1913.
